Dear Jimmy,

I am here living in Colorado living under the great weight of the depression. Children are hopping on the trains all the time now and leaving town to support their families (1). Some mothers are left because their husbands are diving from the famine and other diseases due to the poor conditions (1). Ethnicities are under such an oppressing situation but, they still help the community and help others (1). Life is rough here many people have lost their jobs I have not yet but I am getting payed a lot less for my services.

Love,

Jimmy
